ROUNDBy DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON, Tuesday, May 21.—Official intelligence reports received here indicate that war between Italy and Abyssinia is certain.

The British, who usually exert powerful influence with Mussolini, have talked to him earnestly and privately. But they have not made a dent. Mussolini is determined to carve off a slice of Africa.

Two methods of attack are open: 1. He can attack son by air, bomb Addis Ababa, the capital, which is a collection of mud huts, and drive Emperor Haile Selassie into the jungle. Then he can offer the emperor a puppet throne and a fat salary under the rule of Italy if he will come back.

2. Or Mussolini can wait until the rainy season is over in September and then use the same strategy. The latter method is safer, because by that time his men could travel by motor. During the rains it is impossible.

Which strategy Mussolini will employ depends chiefly on Adolf Hitler.

The ex-Austrian house painter is getting a greater kick out of the Abyssinian ruckus than anyone else. He figures it will give him a chance to accomplish the Anschluss—annex Austria, his homeland. When Mussolini's back is turned on Austria, Hitler would like to send in his nazis.

This is why Mussolini has to gauge his attack on Abyssinia carefully. This is also why the French and British are worried sick over Il Duce's war plans.

Privately they are calling the Abyssinian campaign "Mussolini's Folly."

FRANK FRIENDS

BETWEEN Arkansas' massive Senator Joe Robinson and Kingfish Huey Long there is no love lost—and Joe goes to no pains to hide the fact.

Huey, who disdains asking other senators to put his speeches in the Congressional Record, rose on the floor the other day and said: "Mr. president, I ask unanimous consent to have a radio address printed in the Record."

"What is the speech?" demanded Robinson.

"A speech I made over the radio."

"Yes, and a mighty good one, too. The senator ought to read it."

"It couldn't be a good speech," snapped Joe, "if the senator from Louisiana made it."

PRESIDENT'S PET

WORD is being slipped quietly to the democratic rank and file on Capitol Hill that if they want to keep in the good graces of the White House they should watch their step on the utility holding corporation bill.

And there is no fooling about the nature of the warning. The boys are being told with pointed emphasis that the president is so interested in the fate of this legislation that he is having an individual record kept of the vote and attitude of every member. Those who don't "come clean" can expect to feel the full weight of his displeasure on such highly important matters as patronage and local pork.

Already, it is whispered, two men have been marked down for future "attention."

The first is Illinois' barrel-attomached Senator Bill Dierich, the lone democrat to oppose the bill in the senate interstate commerce committee.

Dierich's warning against the measure in the secrecy of the committee room has incensed White House advisers.

The other holler is Alabama's wavy-haired Representative George Huddleston.

He deserted to the republican minority on the house interstate commerce subcommittee, when it considered the portion of the bill abolishing holding corporations. This deadlocked the committee and delayed action for weeks.

This particular provision is not only the heart of the legislation, but it is the president's own idea. He is determined that it shall become law, and has so informed democratic floor leaders.

WASHINGTON, Tuesday, May 21. (AP)—A resolution requesting President Roosevelt to call an international conference in Washington to consider a "common sense" cure for the world depression, including a five-year armament holiday and lump sum settlement of the war debts, was introduced today by Senator Tydings (D. Md.).

He also listed stabilization of currencies by international agreement and revival of world trade through tariff adjustment as subjects for the proposed conference. In a speech he said these four questions were "vital for recovery and for the protection of civilization."

As a basis for discussion at the international gathering, he recommended the plan "liquidating world depression" recently advocated by Salmon P. Levinson, Chicago lawyer and authority on world peace.

The plan proposes a five-year world armament moratorium and acceptance by the United States of 60 per cent of the $10,000,000,000 war debt principal. After credits are allowed for payments already

LOCAL LABOR MOVE ASKED

B. K. Burnett, secretary of Santa Ana union of crafts associated with the American Federation of Labor, and particularly those crafts dealing with iron work, last night presented a resolution to the city council asking them to take steps toward insuring employment of local workers on the new city hall now under construction.

In the resolution, Mr. Burnett called attention to the fact that there is a provision in the public works act which specifically states that labor shall be drawn from the political subdivision in which the PWA project is underway. The resolution included the statement that this provision is not strictly adhered to by the Los Angeles sub-contractors and that local men have not been employed.

There are 32 men in Orange county who are registered in the local union, Mr. Burnett said, stating it was his belief that all of them were qualified for the work. He further contended that the importation of outside labor has made it impossible for men who are on the SERRA relief rolls to obtain work on the city relief project.

When asked whether or not local men were given a chance to

TIDELANDS
BILL WINS

SACRAMENTO, Tuesday, May 21. (AP)—The assembly late yesterday voted, 68 to 8, in favor of the Burns bill, which would allow exploitation of state-owned tidelands oil pools through whipstock, or slantwise, wells drilled from the adjacent uplands.

Bitter charges that oil companies have been "stealing" the state's petroleum resources were hurled by Assemblyman Hornblower of San Francisco in his successful battle for adoption of an amendment abolishing a definite scale of royalties and calling for competitive bids. The amendment was accepted, 41 to 37, but reconsideration notice was given.

The Burns measure would empower the state director of finance to enter into royalty contracts with the owners of land adjoining the oil pool at Huntington Beach.

WASHINGTON, Tuesday, May 21. (AP)—As the capitol heard that President Roosevelt would reject any proposal for full and immediate payment of the bonus, plans for a joint congressional session tomorrow to receive the veto message on the Patman bill, were blocked, temporarily at least, by Senators Steiwer (R., Ore.) and Long (D., La.).

A resolution for the joint session passed through the house of representatives yesterday. In the senate, a similar move was halted temporarily by the objection of Senator Steiwer, who held up action on the resolution to authorize the joint session far almost an hour with a speech denouncing it as unconstitutional.

Long Holds Up Vote
Senator Long (D-La.) also held up action on the resolution by an apparent filibuster.

After talking for several hours, however, Long indicated that he might be willing to permit a vote tomorrow on the resolution. Disclosure of the president's veto plans shared interest with a remark by Senator Robinson of Arkansas, the democratic leader holding out apparent hope to those who want to see some bonus legislation passed.

COUNTY WATER PROGRAM GIVEN BOOST BY O'NEAL APPOINTMENT

NEW LEADER TO HELP SELECT PROJECTS

County Farmers Were Promised Support For Help Here

Orange county's flood control and water conservation program had moved another notch closer to reality today in the opinion of those who are in close touch with developments connected with the big project.

The news which was greeted here as a step forward was the appointment of Edward A. O'Neal, president of the American farm bureau federation, as a member of President Roosevelt's committee which will advise on the type of projects to be carried out under the new $4,800,000 works relief program.

A statement by Jack Crill, president of the Orange county farm bureau, released at the Farm bureau offices today, made the significance of Mr. O'Neal's appointment clear.

Of Particular Interest "This is of particular interest to Orange county because Mr. O'Neal personally promised officers of the Orange county farm bureau last November that he would give his personal support to securing federal aid for the water conservation program in Orange county," Mr. Crill's statement said.

The president's committee is to be composed of representatives of various branches of industry. Mr. O'Neal will be the representative of agriculture.

At Convention Mr. O'Neal was at the California farm bureau convention in Bakersfield last November, when the state farm bureau passed a resolution supporting the idea of federal aid for water conservation in Orange county. Since that time the American farm bureau organization at Washington has been keeping the local farm bureau informed of changing conditions, Mr. Crill said.

Last night Mr. Crill sent a telegram to Mr. O'Neal at Washington, requesting the full cooperation of the American farm bureau federation in the program. The wire

Then he directed his attention bluntly toward other nations, saying: "If the nations are so concerned about numerically increasing their population, they can accomplish this through an increasing readiness to bring forth offspring and can, in a very few years, present their nation with more children of their own people than they could foreign peoples vanquished by war."

NEW DELAY FOR LEGISLATURE IS SEEN

SACRAMENTO, Tuesday, May 21. (AP)—A second old age pension measure conforming to general principles expected to be laid down by congress, was given final approval today by the senate finance committee and sent to the floor of the upper house for action.

In voting for the measure the committee approved a provision that the state's contributions to pensioners must not be more than double the amount of the federal payment. No amount was specified by the committee for pensions in view of the tentativeness of pending federal legislation.

SACRAMENTO, Tuesday, May 21. (AP)—California's legislature, striving for adjournment possibly by the end of this week, today faced a new delay occasioned by failure of the senate judiciary committee to take decisive action on mortgage moratorium legislation.

Climaxing a day which otherwise saw long strides taken toward completion of the multifarious duties of the 1935 session, the committee last night refused to send both the Jones and Peyser moratorium bills to the floor, and deferred them instead to a subcommittee for later report.

Needing eight votes for approval, the committee balloted seven for and four against, after the authors of the two measures, Assemblyman Jones, Montebello, and Peyser, San Francisco, pleaded for recommendation of both to give California double moratorium until February, 1937.

Reference to the subcommittee places both bills, considered by many legislators among the most important this session, beyond possibility of action until the smaller group makes its report probably later this week.

On the assembly side, the powerful ways and means committee practically completed consideration of the Merriam budget, including the $47,000,000 recommendation of the governor for emergency relief.

Assemblyman C. C. Cottrell of San Jose, chairman of the committee, said he hoped to have the budget on Speaker Craig's desk by tonight.

In its deliberations last night the committee tackled onto the budget additional appropriations totaling $43,325 for maintenance of new national guard units expected to be allotted to California and for building improvements in the capitol.

All-Time High Added to previous increases, these new allotments bring the budget to $398,867,346, an all-time high.

On the floor of the assembly, final defeat to the Patterson 30-hour week bill. The bill polled 40 votes in its favor to 38 against. Forty-one votes are needed for passage of a measure.

In the senate, final legislative action was taken on the Kallam bill legalizing pari-mutuel betting on dog races in much the same fashion that horse race wagering is sanctioned, and on the bill changing the names of teachers' colleges to "state colleges" and liberalizing their courses of instruction.

News of the plan to bring the matter to a vote came in an Associated Press dispatch from Sacramento.

Special Election Legislative counsel advisers at Sacramento said that a special election could be called only upon senate and assembly approval of an enabling act, which would require a majority vote in each house.

Possibility of such approval appeared slight in view of the fact that the present unification program has been beaten in both houses of the legislature.

County supervisors all over the state, as well as outstanding individuals, civic organizations and many newspapers, have expressed opposition to the program.

There are 10 or 12 counties, including San Diego, which are eager to come into such a plan right now," said Assemblyman Stream.

Two attempts have been made to get the bill upon the floor of the senate and each failed. No action has been taken in the assembly.

Legislature At Work

SACRAMENTO, Tuesday, May 21. (AP)—Sent to the floor without recommendation by the education committee, the Anderson amendment providing a common governing board for the University of California and the seven state colleges was before the assembly today.

A bill drafted to increase the power of the state to regulate physicians is before the assembly with committee approval. The measure would allow the state to issue permanent injunctions against physicians practicing without a license.

The Kallam bill permitting formation of soil erosion control districts goes to the senate today with assembly approval. It was passed by the lower house, 52 to 1.

was in Santa Ana yesterday when the office was opened, and remained until shortly before noon when he departed. His departure, it is said, came shortly after Marion Smith was taken into custody by police when she started for the postoffice to mail the first group of "payoff" envelopes.

Following a conference today with postal inspectors, District Attorney S. B. Kaufman said a check of records of the organization revealed that more than half of the money mailed out by the group was addressed to operators of the chime and their friends in Los Angeles, Hollywood and Glendale.

According to information received this morning a second "prosperity club" opened its doors here yesterday just a short time before the raid on the North Main street establishment. When informed that the six operators and employees of the concession had been jailed, promoters of the second establishment closed their doors.

After checking letter containing money that had not been mailed out to "winners," police revealed they had confiscated a total of $398.51 in addition to an unnamed amount contained in two sealed letters that cannot be opened without permission of the postoffice department.

Each Had $1 to $9 The confiscated unsealed letters contained sums of money ranging in amounts from $1 to $9. In practically every instance letters containing the maximum amount were addressed to operators of the scheme or their friends.

At the arraignment of C. B. Brockett and N. W. James, of Hollywood, Marion R. Smith, of Glendale, Rose Mary Richard, of Eagle Rock, and Helen F. Buchanan and Louise Burghart, of Hollywood, two of the defendants, the Smith and Richard girls, were represented by Forrest Garfield Smith, Glendale attorney. In court Smith said that the Smith girl is his stenographer and is on vacation. He informed Judge Morrison that he "just happened to be passing through town when the raid was made and stopped to see what was happening." He said he was amazed to find that his stenographer was one of the persons arrested. The court did not ask him how it happened that his name appeared on 29 of the "chain letters."

LOS ANGELES, Tuesday, May 21. (AP)—Approximately 60 men and women led by a gray-haired woman, who screamed that she had "lost $5," today burst into a Hollywood "dollar chain" establishment, overturned furniture and ransacked files, and caused a riot for police.

The three proprietors of the office escaped through a back door, leaving behind Miss Gloria Hughes, a stenographer.

to see some bonus legislation "worked out and passed" after the Patman bill had been killed, and added that he would be glad to "contribute" toward that end.

"But I don't know whether it is possible or not," he said.

Whether Robinson, an administration leader, had in mind some compromise that would not call for payment in full immediately was not disclosed. But the white house was described in informed quarters as opposed to any plan for such full payment.

These informants gave this version of the visit the bonus "steering committee" of legislators paid yesterday to President Roosevelt in a vain attempt to get him to change his mind about vetoing the Patman bill tomorrow.

Mr. Roosevelt said he would be glad to receive, read and consider their statement urging him to sign the bill, but that he could not sign it.

CITY SEEKING $5,248 FOR STREETS

A resolution, authorizing an application for $5,248.71 to be used on Santa Ana streets, was passed by the city council last night and was to be presented to the county board of supervisors today.

The money will come from the 1-cent county gasoline tax fund, and not from the regular quarter of a cent tax fund regularly set aside for use on streets within incorporated cities. Thirteen streets will be effected by the grant.

No Expense to City

Councilman Joseph P. Smith pointed out that no expense would be incurred by the city, and that the money was procured chiefly through the efforts of County Supervisor William C. Jerome and the cooperation of the other members of the board.

Streets effected by the grant and the amount to be expended in each case are: West Edinger, from Main to Bristol, $658; Seventeenth street from lower street to the west city limits, $853; Bristol street from Seventeenth street to Santiago street, $427; St. Gertrude Place from Main to the Pacific Electric railway, $163; St. Andrews place from Main to the Pacific Electric railway, $163; Orange avenue from Anaheim place to Occidental street, $671; Cypress avenue from Edinger to St. Andrews, $428.

made, the debtors would pay 12 equal annual installments.

A similar 60 per cent, 12-year settlement would be made with respect to German payments on her army of occupation and mixed claims awards to the United States, and the plan also would call for cancellation of the $10,000,000 of debts owing by the European allies among themselves.

"Let the United States," Tydings said, "Propose to the nations to be assembled at Washington a new world policy—a live and live policy—and dedicate it to the plain people of both hemispheres."

Time for Settlement

Declaring no one expected the war debts to be paid on the present basis, Tydings said it was time to make a "common sense" settlement and get what we could. He asserted a five-year armament holiday would be the "greatest single short cut out of the depression for all the nations" and "the first de facto world declaration of peace in history."

He said the United States would save about $300,000,000 a year in regular construction appropriations and the world at large from five to six billion.

He said the "four horsemen" of the World war—war debts, depreciated currency, armaments and embargoes—were "still riding through Christendom" and the only leader who could down them was "General Common Sense."

Sheriff to Appear In Deed Wrangle

Sheriff Logan Jackson has been ordered to appear before Presiding Judge James L. Allen next Tuesday to show cause why he should not be enjoined from giving a deed to the First National Bank for Santa Ana property sold by him while a third party claim was pending. The order was issued late yesterday in response to a complaint filed against Jackson by Henry M. Kinslow and Walter T. Kinslow, claimants to the property under the third party claim.

PRINTERS FIGHT SCHOOL SHOP ACTIVITY

A committee representing the various printers in Santa Ana, yesterday met with School Superintendent Frank Henderson and filed a written protest to the activity of Thomas E. Williams, director of the Fine Arts Press and director of the high school and junior college print shop.

According to the complaint, Mr. Williams' activities in printing books is taking business away from the local printers. They are asking that the print shop be closed to work other than the instruction of pupils.

Mr. Henderson took the stand that the publicity gained as a result of the fine work done in the high school print shop was priceless.

Mr. Henderson will present the complaint to the members of the board of education at their regular meeting tonight. He said today that he will not recommend any action in the matter.

This morning Mr. Henderson received a letter from an applicant for a position of instructor to replace Mr. Williams whom the applicant understood had accepted a position with the Pasadena junior college. No such action has been taken by Mr. Williams as yet, but it is understood that Pasadena has made him a very attractive offer.

OFFICERS ARE RE-ELECTED

Re-election of officers of the elementary division of the Orange County Public Schools Music association was effected at a dinner meeting of the organization held last night in the First Christian church.

Those who will continue in office include Stanley Kurtz, principal of El Modena, president; Mrs. Marie Hare, principal of Alamitos, vice president; and Miss Edith Holsinger, Capella, secretary treasurer.

The comparative relationship of painting, sculpturing, architecture, literature and music was the topic of a talk by Louis Danz of Anaheim. Mr. Danz traced the evolution of music from Greek civilization to that of the present. He is the author of a recent book upon the subject.

Community singing was led by Miss Edith Cornell, and a male quartet sang, composed of Superintendent of Westminster schools, Orion G. Bebermeyer, John Peterson, superintendent of Oceanview; Manville Saxton, of Oceanview; Raymond Elliott, vice principal of Huntington Beach high school. Mrs. Ruth Harlow of Huntington Beach accompanied.

ASKS MORE TIME TO STUDY GRADE CROSSING PROJECT

Councilman Joseph P. Smith, in reporting last night on the proposed grade crossing separation on East First street under the Southern Pacific tracks, said his committee was in favor of proceeding with the project, but wanted more time to consider the matter.

Several months ago the city council, through S. V. Cortelyou, district engineer of the state highway department, made application for money to construct the underpass. If the application is accepted, the money will come from California's share of the government's $4,880,000 work relief fund. The only thing holding up the project at present is the fact that Santa Ana must provide the right of way. Mr. Smith told the council that the right of way would cost about $40,000.

J. E. Cardwell, 713 South Shelton, Santa Ana—Several dozen Mason fruit jars for what have you. Will also swap I. C. S. course for equity in lot or what have you.

616 South Broadway, Santa Ana—Piano for painting.

MAKE PLEA TO HANDLE HALL DEDICATION

A communication from the Native Sons of the Golden West was received last night by the city council, asking for permission to conduct the dedication ceremonies for the new city hall when it is completed. Mayor Fred C. Rowland expressed his appreciation to the organization for the offer and pointed out that various other organizations would undoubtedly be making the same request in the future.

On motion of Councilman Plummer Bruns, Mayor Rowland was authorized to appoint a committee to handle all similar applications or offers to conduct the ceremonies.

Announcement was made at the council session that there will be a meeting of the Orange County League of Municipalities in Huntington Beach Thursday night.

According to the communication to the council, the meeting will open with a dinner in the Knights of Pythias hall, with the program under the supervision of City Attorney Ray Overacker.

District Attorney S. B. Kaufman will speak on the coordination of his office with judicial units and police departments in the various towns in the county.

An application for permission to sell poppies on national Poppy day, May 25, was granted to the Ernest Kellogg post, number 1680, of the veterans' relief. The communication was sent to the council by Mrs. Edna Camm, poppy chairman, who said that they expected to make approximately $300 from the sales.

A request sent to the city council by Ner W. Rathbun, secretary of the Share Our Wealth society, for permission to use the municipal bowl for a mass meeting either June 5 or June 12, was granted. Attached to the application was a communication signed by Senator Huey P. Long.

Councilmen Ernest Layton and Joseph P. Smith were appointed on a committee to serve with City Auditor Lloyd Banks, in an investigation into the advisability of making the city's camp near Forest home free to the public. At present, the charge for campers is 50 cents per car per night, $2.50 a week, or $8 a month. The camp covers 11 acres and originally cost the city about $1200. It is under the management of W. O. Marriott.

BOTANIC GARDEN MAY BE SEEN ON ADDITIONAL DAYS

In response to scores of requests for opportunities to visit the Rancho Santa Ana Botanic Garden of the Native Plants of California on days other than Thursday, the regular visiting day, the institution has announced that visitors will be received at the garden in Santa Ana canyon on Friday and Saturday, May 31 and June 1, and on Friday and Saturday, June 7 and 8. Thursdays will continue to be visiting days until the end of June.

The 200-acre tract, deeded to the institution by the founder, Mrs. Susanna Bixby Bryant, is reported by Dr. Carl Wolf, botanist of the garden, to be especially beautiful at this time of year, for just now hundreds of wild flowers and shrubs are in full bloom.

Trails and roads will be open to visitors, as also will the Orange county sanctuary, in which trees and shrubs native to this county are being planted, the nursery and the herbarium, in which a display of many scores of wild flowers will be presented.

CHURCH BOOKS IMPERSONATOR

Billed as an entertainer and impersonator, John B. Ratto of Los Angeles will come as guest artist from Los Angeles to present a program at the First Christian church tomorrow night at 7:30 o'clock. The presentation is one of a series being sponsored by young people of the church to raise funds for the Idylwild conference this summer.

Affiliated with the Redpath bureau for 25 years, Mr. Ratto is accredited to have given over 5,000 performances. The artist presents his characters in make-up, penciling in full view of his audience, telling an appropriate story. Penciling finished, he turns to the table mirror, adjusts his wig, and faces about to surprise his audience with the accuracy of a character distinct in appearance, speech, and action.

"Full of life and action with not a dull moment," is the promise made by Mr. Ratto for his performance. It will be his third appearance in Santa Ana. He talked last year at the Christian church on one of the educational programs and more recently at the State Men's Brotherhood convention held in the First Methodist church.

The public is invited to attend.

PLAN NEW TYPE OF PLAY DAY

Marking the introduction of a new type of play day, students of four county schools in the western area of the county, will gather at Anaheim city park Wednesday for an all day picnic and play day.

Schools taking part in the event will be Laora, Centralia, Savanna and Alamitos. According to Arthur F. Corey, assistant county superintendent of schools, a program of group play and competitive sports will be presented during the day. In the past, he said, all competitive games have been participated in by groups representing the various schools. This system, he said, has resulted in intense competition for victory rather than offering all children an opportunity to participate. Corey said yesterday that under the new plan competitive games will be organized with children selected for teams regardless of the schools they represent and every child will be given an opportunity to participate.

TO HAVE DINNER

Chicken pie is the dinner menu offered by the Richland Avenue Methodist church for Thursday night from 5 to 7 p. m. when a public dinner will be served in the social hall of the church.

SERA OFFERS TO BUILD CABINETS TO HOUSE MUSEUM RELICS

An offer by the state emergency relief administration to construct cabinets to care for relics and artifacts unearthed in old Indian camp grounds in Orange county, was presented to the city council last night, and referred by that body to the museum board for recommendation.

The communication was signed by Fred P. Jayne, and pointed out the fact that SERA men had been engaged in doing historical research work in the county, and had unearthed numerous skeletons and relics that are on the point of disintegration. He said the need of some place to store them was immediate, and that the local SERA committee was willing to submit a project for construction of the cabinets if the city would provide the materials.

On recommendation of Fire Commissioner William Penn, the council voted in favor of purchasing a new chassis for the fire department. Mr. Penn pointed out the fact the truck now in use is a 1923 model and the service that can be rendered by the rescue squad would be greatly improved if its truck was modern. City Auditor Lloyd Banks was authorized to call for bids on a three-quarter ton truck chassis not to exceed $650, exclusive of the trade-in received for the old truck.

Ralph Pantuso, on the recommendation of Police Commissioner Plummer Bruns, was appointed to the police force to serve during the vacation period.

FINAL CONCERT BY SYMPHONY ON SUNDAY

Featuring Miss Margaret Johnston, violinist from Pomona, the concluding concert of a current series of programs will be presented in the First Methodist church, Sixth and Spurgeon streets, Sunday evening, at 7:30 o'clock, by Elwood Bear and members of the Santa Ana Symphony orchestra.

After the Lalo work, in which the guest artist is featured, the orchestra will play "Three Bavarian Dances" by Edward Elgar. These dances are from Elgar's choral suite "From the Bavarian Highlands" and it is believed they have never before been played on the Pacific coast.

SCIENCE HAS ITS WAY Orphan 'Possums Thriving

Science is having its way these days, even with 'possums.

Five weeks ago nine baby 'possums were orphaned when a car driven by Wildon Curtis, ran over their mother. The babies were taken from the mother's pouch before their mouths were even open, and adopted by Mr. and Mrs. L. R. Quick of 2464 Heliotrope. Through coaxing they learned to take their grade A milk from a hygienic medicine dropper until now they're the huskiest pets in the neighborhood.

Popeye and Wimpy

The strongest has been dubbed Popeye while his pal, who has a particular avidity for meat, is called Wimpy.

Drowsy through the day the 'possums really come to life about 10 o'clock, Mr. Quick says. They've already developed good tails for their acrobatics. They can shinny up a rope via tail and claw clutch and Mr. Quick is planning to build them a scaffold. They won't jump, however, Mr. Quick says.

Children of the neighborhood have found them grand fun and think it's great sport to have them climb over their shoulders and neck.

Cat in a Sulk

Approval of the 'possums is not unanimous, however. The Quick family cat, Biddy Fellow, has been in a sulk from almost the first day of their arrival, and refuses to stay in the house, where they're kept on the back porch.

About the size of a barn rat, the 'possums now have fairly heavy coats of black, brown and white bristly hair, long hairless tails, bright black eyes, and pointed snouts.

The milk they have been fed has evidently been a good nutritive, for the children all testify that their teeth certainly can take sharp nips.

LIONS NOMINATE HOMER CHANEY FOR POST

Three events of special interest to Santa Ana and Orange county took place last night at a meeting of the Orange-San Diego council of Lions clubs in the Bird cafe at Laguna Beach.

Homer Chaney of Santa Ana was nominated for president of the council. Glen Tidball of Santa Ana was chosen to represent this district in a five-minute speaking contest at the district convention of Lions in San Diego next month; and Carl Harvey of Brea was endorsed for appointment as deputy district governor in this zone.

Appointment Assured
As a result of the action, Mr. Harvey's appointment is virtually assured. Luther Mack, who becomes district governor next July, will be asked to appoint Mr. Harvey.

Approximately 100 Lions, representing seven Orange county clubs and three San Diego county groups, attended the session.

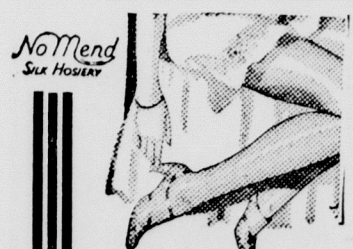

Other nominations included Walter Spicer, Costa Mesa, for vice president, and Justice of the Peace K. E. Morrison, Santa Ana, for secretary-treasurer. The nominating committee was composed of Dr. Elliott Rowland, Santa Ana, chairman; Ivan Swanger, Orange, and Carl Harvey, Brea. The election will be held June 17 in Orange.

H. G. Smeltzer of Anaheim won second place in the speakers' contest. Other entries were Don Jordan, Garden Grove; Herman Craemer, San Diego; and John Heisler, Laguna Beach. Judges were Don Rice and Walter Ferris, Santa Ana, and Paul Demaree, Anaheim.

Eight new members were inducted by Homer Chaney. These were Ernest Webb, Ray Hoiles, R. R. Lee and Don Dearth of Santa Ana, and Don Sandilands, Joe Scholz, Vincent Borden and George Willets of Anaheim.

Mrs. Vera Newcomb entertained with songs, and led the group in singing sea chantees.

FUTURE MEDICINE MARVELS SEEN Physician Addresses Santa Ana Rotarians

What marvels may scientific medicine perform in the future in treating heart disease, cancer, and other ills of the human body that are not yet completely conquered? Suggestions that the wonders already accomplished may be overshadowed by the things to be done in the future were in the minds of Santa Ana Rotarians this afternoon following a talk on "The Romance of Medicine" given at the Green Cat cafe today by Dr. Herbert A. Johnston, Anaheim Rotarian, introduced by Guy Gilbert.

The Rev. W. Scott McFarland gave a talk welcoming three new members, C. H. Hoiles, L. J. Bascomb and Ray Felton.

BUDDY POPPIES TO BE SOLD
Buddy poppies will be sold by the Ernest Kellogg post, Veterans of Foreign Wars, next Saturday, Commander Glenn D. Hendrickson said today. The American Legion on the same day will sell Flanders' poppies.

A red silk flower, the Buddy poppy, is sold only by the V. F. W. posts, Commander Hendrickson declared. Members of the auxiliary, under Mrs. Charles Camm, will be in charge of the campaign. A booth on the north side of Fourth street at Main will be erected as the distributing point.

Commemoration of the sixth anniversary of the post's muster in Santa Ana will be made at a pot-luck supper party at 6:30 p. m. on June 11. Vaudeville numbers and a 10-piece orchestra for dancing will feature the evening's entertainment.

PARK OFFERED MIDWAY CITY

MIDWAY CITY, Tuesday, May 21. Midway City is to have a park. The use of five acres belonging to the Westminster Memorial Park association, of which C. C. McWhinney, owner, is president, and Louis Humphrey is manager, has been offered to Midway City, through Ed L. Hensley. The project is located on the corner of First street (Bolsa road) and Huntington Beach boulevard. The ground is ample to provide tennis courts, a baseball diamond, and children's playground. The corner is a prominent one, located at the junction of two major highways, and, when improved and beautified, will add materially to the attractiveness of the community. The residents of Midway City are deeply appreciative of the generosity of the Westminster Memorial association.

Sale of Interest in Hospital Undecided
Whether or not Orange county will sell its 58 per cent interest in the Tri-County Hospital site near Beaumont or negotiate the purchase of the 42 per cent interest held by Riverside and Imperial counties is still undecided, according to Chairman John C. Mitchell, chairman of the board of supervisors, today. Acting on instructions of the board, Mitchell has communicated with the Imperial county supervisors regarding their attitude on the Riverside offer to "buy or sell" at a flat rate of $1,500. The site comprises approximately 50 acres of land.

The property is now operated as an apple orchard by a caretaker. Every year a bill is submitted for upkeep without possible return.

End of Oceanview Controversy Near
The row that, for more than a week, has split the Oceanview school district, apparently is nearing settlement, according to word from that community today. J. J. Gebauer, seventh grade teacher whose dismissal by the school board caused the split, has returned to his classroom and children who were withdrawn from the school have also returned.

It was reported this morning that the leaders of both factions, the school board and the parents, have held the first of a series of conferences and are approaching a basis for harmony.

CONFIDENT ITALY MAY STRIKE
As regards Austria, Hitler knows from the tenor of the Stresa conference, if he did not know it before, that the three great powers there assembled are unanimous in opposing any interference by Germany in the affairs of Austria.

Whether France or Great Britain would act in the event of another interference in Austria by Germany or Germans, as they believe was the case in connection with the Dolfuss murder, is open to question.

From all accounts it appears that Mussolini and Hitler, who at the beginning of the Nazi regime exchanged such cordial messages, have come to hate each other. Rightly or wrongly, the Wilhelmstrasse is convinced that Italy will pounce upon Germany on the slightest pretext. The foreign office even believes Italy is backing Lithuania.

ICKES DEFENDS PWA'S SCALE OF WAGES

WASHINGTON, Tuesday, May 21. (AP)—Declining to enter any controversy over reduction of payments to labor and other phases of the $4,000,000,000 work program, Secretary Ickes said today the PWA hourly wage rate would be maintained on PWA projects.

"Every man has a right to a personal opinion," was Ickes' only comment on attacks at the new wage schedule by William Green, president of the American Federation of Labor, and Senator McCarran (D-Nev.).

Session Called
Asserting that he feared "great social unrest" would spring from the work relief wage rates President Roosevelt has fixed, Green said he had called federation leaders to a session today to decide on a course of action.

Under the wage schedule, the country is divided into four regions, with monthly earnings varying within each according to density of population. There also are four classifications of labor—unskilled, intermediate, skilled and professional-technical.

Region 1, comprising the New England, middle Atlantic, lake, mountain and Pacific states, will have these minimum and maximum monthly salaries: unskilled, $40 to $55; intermediate, $45 to $65; skilled, $55 to $85; professional, $61 to $94.

Cortelyou to Pick "Feeder" Highways

Selection of "feeder" highways in Orange county to be improved by the state highway commission and financed by the Public Works administration will be made by S. V. Cortelyou, state highway commission engineer, and County Engineer Nat Neff, John C. Mitchell, chairman of the board of supervisors, announced today. Mitchell previously had been appointed, unofficially, by the board to make the designations.

Mitchell said he had sent the list of 15 projects to Cortelyou with instructions to make selections through conferences with Neff. The projects submitted by Orange county call for an expenditure of approximately $242,000. The county, it is estimated, will have approximately $65,000 apportioned to it for improving the "feeder" road system.

HUNDREDS FLEE RISING WATER IN OKLAHOMA

OKLAHOMA CITY, Tuesday, May 21. (AP)—Hundreds of families in Oklahoma and Texas moved to higher ground today as flood crests rolled toward their lowland homes.

With the highest water expected here tonight, officials sponsored the removal of 300 families from the bottoms of the North Canadian river as a precaution against an increase in the death toll, now standing at 13 in Texas, six in Oklahoma and one in Kansas.

Stay in Tent City
The women in the families, most of whom are living in makeshift shacks, bagged up emergency supplies for their stay in a tent city on higher ground. R. J. Benz, Red Cross director, told the men to remain on their jobs.

At Tulsa, more than a dozen families quit the lowlands of the Arkansas river, which was near flood stage.

West of Dallas, 16 families were forced out of their homes when a levee surrendered to the terrific surge of a flood, inundating a thousand acres.

Military Precision
After Oklahoma City police, firemen, county, Red Cross and national guard officers pooled their forces to sidestep a repetition of the sudden disaster caused by the North Canadian's outbreak of 1932, today's removal was dispatched with military precision.

Orval Mosier, city manager here, went to the "squatter camp" last night and assured the hapless through they would have "three square meals a day" at the refuge camp.

Texas recorded two new flood deaths yesterday. I. D. Red, 20, drowned while swimming in the swollen Trinity near Trinity, and Edward Davidson, Buffalo, 20, was injured fatally when his automobile crashed into a washed-out bridge.

LATHROP STUDENTS, ESSAYS PRAISE JUNIOR H. S.

To students who feel reluctant about leaving elementary schools for junior high school this June the following excerpts taken from essays written by Julia Lathrop ninth grade students should offer reassurance. The essays were written on "What Lathrop Means to Me."

"Here at Lathrop, I have learned to appreciate good music," writes Adela Bravo. "Above all, the Lathrop library has helped me to like good books and I regret not having made more use of it in the past three years." Courses on vocations and social studies particularly appealed to Adela, according to her essay.

Develops Character
Character traits have been developed by Lucile Dehne, she says. "It has helped me to keep my thoughts clean and has taught me that I shouldn't mess up things that I shouldn't rightfully belong to. I should correct my own mistakes, appreciate things when they are given me, but never disobey rules." Reminiscences of her first day at junior high school were related by Lupe Castro. "I was very puzzled about so many bells ringing at different times. We made the teachers laugh at us because every time a bell would ring we'd get ready to leave." Continuing she said, "Cooking is lots of fun because you eat all you cook. Wouldn't the boys like it if they could take cooking a while."

Surveys Three Years
A chronological survey of the three years was made by Wanda Pennington. "When you first came to Lathrop, I am sure you remember the queer feeling you had. You were frightened and amazed at the same time. Everybody was new to you except your few friends that came over with you from grammar school. When you get in the eighth grade, you do not feel as out of place as you did when you were in the seventh grade. You look at the seventh graders and think how foolish it was of you to be frightened. When you arrive in the ninth grade, you are really looking at your future. You are now excited about high school. Year in and year out happy children have graduated into high school from our Lathrop junior high and now it is my turn to be graduated. I can hardly wait to go to high school and learn high school ways."

HONOR HEROES WITH POPPIES

Santa Ana will be called upon to honor the World War dead and give aid to the war's living victims by wearing memorial poppies on May 25. This day, the Saturday before Memorial day, will be Poppy day throughout the United States and will be generally observed by the wearing of the little red paper flowers, copied after those of Flanders fields.

Observance of Poppy day here will be directed by the American Legion auxiliary, Mrs. David Jellis, president of the local auxiliary unit has announced. Women of the auxiliary will distribute poppies on the streets and receive contributions for the auxiliary's welfare and relief work among the disabled veterans and their families.

Organization of a corps of volunteer workers to distribute the memorial flowers throughout the city is going forward rapidly under the leadership of Mrs. Gene Robinson, chairman of the auxiliary's poppy committee. A large supply of the poppies has been received from Navy hospital, San Diego, where disabled veterans have been given employment during the winter and spring making the little paper flowers.

"The purpose of Poppy day is to give everyone an opportunity to pay individual tribute to the men who gave their lives in defense of the nation," said Mrs. Jellis.

WESTERN FOLKS START LATEST CAMPAIGN

Federal Officials See Slight Prospect of New Star in Flag

By PAUL WEIR

WASHINGTON, Tuesday, May 21. (AP)—Though citizens in half a dozen parts of the country like to dream that some day their sections will become separate states, federal officials see little prospect that a forty-ninth star will go into "Old Glory" in the near future.

Some people in "Texlahoma," "Absarkora," Eastern Maryland, Hawaii, Puerto Rico, and Alaska, aspire to be represented by that star. Even folk in New York city and Chicago have talked of statehood.

Fine Artist Presents Piano Concert at Guest Meeting of P. E. O. Sisterhood

Ida Vollmer Applauded By Group

Chapter AB Hostess To 18 Women in Bishop Home

Displaying the fine technique and inspiring interpretation of a skilled artist, Ida Stark (Mrs. Fred) Vollmer of Santa Ana presented a piano program of concert proportions at the guest meeting and tea of chapter AB of the P. E. O. Sisterhood yesterday afternoon in the home of Mrs. Holmes Bishop in Orange.

Audience Attentive Her audience accorded Mrs. Vollmer the richly-earned tribute of complete and intent silence throughout her program, the first part of which included three Chopin numbers, "Scherzo in B Minor," "Nocturne Opus 37 number 7," and "Etude Opus 10 number 7." The artist played easily and with amazingly manlike strength, as well as complete delicacy and tenderness in other passages.

Poems Read In the short intermission between Mrs. Vollmer's two solo groups, Mrs. Charles Brisco, who also introduced the guest artist, read three poems written by her daughter, Marjorie Vollmer, sophomore student in Santa Ana high school. The first poem, written by Marjorie when she was 12, was "Sunset." The others, each written with a great deal of color and charm, were "The Huntress" and "The Singing Breeze."

Mrs. Vollmer concluded her program by playing Leschetizky's "The Two Larks," Liszt's "Liebestraum" and his "Concert Etude in D flat."

As an encore, Mrs. Vollmer played "Toccata" brilliant technical study by Leschetizky, her former teacher. She mentioned the great composer's dedication of the composition to Czerny, his teacher and pupil of Beethoven.

Home Attractive The always attractive Bishop home was enhanced by a large emerald glassware bowl filled with transvaal daisies from pale ivory to flame-bued, and a wide brass bowl filled with delphinium, syringa, Iceland poppies, columbine and other summer flowers placed near the grand piano.

At the close of the program, the guests walked in the garden while the chapter met briefly, and then they returned to the living room to be served coffee, ice cream molded with yellow tarts, little cakes iced in white with yellow "P. E. O." initials, salted nuts and mints in yellow and white. A half-hour of visiting concluded the pleasant afternoon.

BETA SIGMA PHI CHAPTER ATTENDS COUNCIL SESSION

Outstanding in this year's calendar of affairs for Beta Sigma Phi sorority was the Southern California council breakfast which Santa Ana Sigma chapter members attended Sunday in the Hotel Miramar, Santa Monica.

One hundred seventy-five members and 75 mothers as honored guests were present to enjoy a delightful breakfast and witness installation of council officers in the garden of the hotel.

Mu Chapter Hostess Mu chapter members from Santa Monica were hostesses. The Mexican motif was used in appointments, and gourds, cacti and tiny wax figures were used on the table. A string trio from Olvera street entertained with music in the breakfast room.

Santa Ana Sigma chapter again has a member on the council, Miss Elsie Siemsen having been chosen as treasurer. Mrs. James Westervelt, Mu chapter sponsor, conducted the installation. Miss Lucie McDermott, retiring vice-president of the council, is now president of Sigma chapter. Miss Margaret Watt of Mu succeeds Mrs. George Vance of Fullerton as council president.

San Diego's invitation to the July council breakfast was accepted, and a week end stay at the exposition city is planned. Sigma's invitation for the September breakfast was also accepted.

Open House Sited

Miss Katherine Spicer's cleverly-worded invitation from Sigma to attend an informal open house June 2 in the afternoon at the Santa Ana girls' Laguna Beach house was read and accepted.

Members attending from Santa Ana and later making up a theater and dinner party in Los Angeles were the Meses Mary Ford, Marie Labrucherie, Elsie Siemsen, Mildred Staples, Lucie McDermott, Laura Mallin, Delphina Lopez, Isabelle Siracusa, Lillian McDonald and Dorothy Lindsey.

The public is invited to attend the program beginning at 8 o'clock.

Mrs. Graham Hostess To Her Club

Mrs. Robert Graham entertained last evening with a pretty party at her home on South Van Ness street for members of her informal bridge club.

The home was colorful with bouquets of summer flowers. Each card table was centered with a bowl of pansies on white linen, and after the two-course dessert was served, the hostess distributed pansy-painted tallies for the bridge play.

Mrs. William Kolhurst and two substitutes, Mrs. Herbert Strosheim and Mrs. Herbert Smith, won prizes.

Others present were Mrs. Colby McKinney, Miss Hattiebell Wall, Mrs. Ronald Crookshank, Mrs. Myron Dungan, Miss Stella Jackson and Mrs. Frank Humphreys and two other substitutes, the hostess's sisters, Mrs. George Stevens and Miss Stella Swartz.

WATKINS HOME SCENE OF PARTY FOR YOUNG COUPLE

Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Watkins' home on Balboa Island was the scene last Saturday evening of a party which complimented Miss Catherine Lopes of La Canada and her fiancé, Jackson Kuhn of Santa Ana. The couple's marriage date, June 7, and the wedding place, the Wee Kirk o' the Heather at Glendale, came as news to the guests in the desert hour, when gold wedding bells were found inside slices of cake.

Supper partners were found by matching bell-shaped tallies. The supper table gleamed with silver and crystalware, and the centerpiece of white flowers was surrounded by a miniature bridal party.

Hostess Surprised

Miss Lopes wore a pale green gown, and the hostess was in Alice blue. The guests provided a surprise by showering their hostess with handkerchiefs in celebration of her recent birthday anniversary.

Miss Lopes, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Manuel S. Lopes of La Canada, is a graduate of Pasadena Junior college. Her fiancé, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Kuhn of Santa Ana, is a graduate of California Institute of Technology and is now with the Kinney Airplane and Motor company of Glendale as a designer of engines. A number of parties are being planned for them by friends of the popular young man and woman.

Honored at Dinner

Yesterday, Mr. and Mrs. Watkins entertained Miss Lopes and Mr. Kuhn, who were their guests for the week end, and Mr. and Mrs. Kuhn of Santa Ana at a Sunday dinner.

Others present were Messrs. and Meses. Earl Woycott, W. M. Wells, W. F. De Wolf, Dale Wilson, Herbert L. Johnson, R. A. McMahon, Clarence Bond, H. D. McIlvain and Dr. R. C. Harris and Mrs. Harris of Santa Ana, and Mr. and Mrs. Conrad Shook of Balboa Island.

70 ATTEND PARTY AT LAGUNA HOTEL

Seventy students and teachers of the Laguna Beach high school attended the first annual junior-senior banquet held in the Laguna hotel last Friday evening.

The young girls, attired in summer evening dresses, coupled with the nautical decorations made the affair one of the most colorful of the season of the hotel. Tables were decorated with pastel flowers, boats filled with candies, and place cards in life-saver shapes. The entire program was nautical.

Tom Heywood, senior class president, spoke to the young people on "Leaving Port" and Howard Saunders, junior class president, responded with a "bon voyage" talk. Tom McClure, popular junior at the high school, was master of ceremonies for the evening. Others on the program during the dinner were Helen Parry, John Ferguson, music instructor, and Mickey Gessford.

After the dinner students danced in the hotel dining room.

Clubwomen of County Return From Federation Convention

Filled with new inspiration and understanding of federation, clubwomen from the various Orange county federated clubs returned Sunday and yesterday from Del Monte, after attending sessions of the California Federation of Women's clubs state convention last week.

Conclave Sited Already, the clubs are planning representation at the summer conference to be June 27 and 28 at Santa Barbara. At this time, committees will be announced by the new state president, Mrs. W. D. James of Hanford, who is succeeding Miss Josephine G. Seaman of La Jolla.

Magazine Remains Orange county is fortunate in that Mrs. Frank Rospaw of Placentia, who has been state press chairman and business manager of the California Federation News for the past two years will edit the magazine in the new term and the News will be published in Placentia. Mrs. Albert Launer of Fullerton has edited it in the closing two-year term.

The federation office, which has been in the Chapman building, Fullerton, will be moved June 1 to Hanford. Fullerton will thus lose a splendid clubwoman, Mrs. Agnes Purnell, state office secretary.

Other Officers Other interesting results of the state election were the choice of Mrs. George Hall, of Ojai, nominating committee's candidate for treasurer. She defeated Mrs. Walter F. Malone of Montebello in an exciting battle. Mrs. George Bunnell of Redlands is treasurer, and Mrs. James has appointed Mrs. C. F. Kenworthy of Hanford and Mrs. Charles S. McKelvey of Los Angeles, corresponding secretary and parliamentarian.

The Juniors elected Freida Kuhl of San Francisco as their new president, and Jane Morrell of Los Angeles, vice president.

Attend Sessions Mrs. Rospaw and Mrs. Launer as state board members; Mrs. E. D. White of Santa Ana, Southern district chairman of juniors, and Mrs. C. C. Bonebrake, county federation president, went officially from Orange county.

Among others from this county were Mrs. C. V. Davis from Santa Ana, Mrs. Don Park and Mrs. George Walker from our Junior Ebells, and Barbara Jane Davis and Patty Rapp of Santa Ana Girls Ebells, Mrs. E. H. Smith from Orange Woman's club.

Mrs. Floyd Annin, president, and Mrs. Monte L. Porter went from Fullerton Ebells; Mrs. R. G. Carman from Santa Ana Woman's club, and Mrs. C. A. Neighbors, Mrs. Leo Friis, Mrs. George Page and Misses Martha Neighbors of Anaheim senior and junior Ebells.

LET'S READ A NEW BOOK!

By VERA RAMSEY

Book Reviews from the Public Library

PUZZLED AMERICA, by Sherwood Anderson.

Sherwood Anderson is at heart a true American. For that reason he is very successful in his interviews with miners, textile workers, and farmers. In order to find out what the real workers think of the future of America, he traveled and talked extensively, especially through the southern and middle western states.

Mr. Anderson was very much impressed by the unbounded natural resources and potential wealth of the United States. More than this he was heartened by the spirit of the inhabitants. In spite of infirmities and acute sufferings, this author believes that the people of the United States are still very much a democracy. They want work and they want to do it together in a spirit of brotherhood.

Sherwood Anderson's vision of fraternal America has a touch of Walt Whitman about it. It is profoundly disturbing. In spite of this the true spirit of the book is that of positive optimism.

A FEW FOOLISH ONES, by Gladys Hasty Carroll.

American literature has had its fair share of epics of pioneering. In the last few years, we have had brought to our attention another side of our history. Mary Ellen Chase, Rachel Field, and particularly Gladys Hasty Carroll have told us of those who stayed with their farms, while the more adventurous went in search of fame and fortune in the unknown.

Her new book like "As the Earth Turns" is concerned with the activity of a small rural community. The narration shows the many changes that occur in the period from 1870 to 1930. It is carried through two wars, the Klondike gold rush, the coming of railroads, trolley cars, and automobiles, prosperity and depression.

Many people through the pages. Gus Bragdon, stout-armed and shrewd, is the central figure. He will stand as a Maine man in the same high place where Jen Shaw of "As the Earth Turns" stands as a Maine woman. Through them we see the life on a Maine farm as hard and rich and revealing.

Other Recent Books THE PRICE OF PEACE, by Frank H. Simonds and Brooks Ereny. A new international conflict is in the making, says Mr. Simonds, and the causes have shifted from the realm of political ambition to an economic death struggle.

A WESTERN WIND, by Charles S. Brooks. The author describes the picturesque and enchanting features of the Pacific Coast at Carmel, Monterey, and Santa Barbara.

HASTA LA VISTA, by Christopher Morley. The "just looking" of Christopher Morley has an infectious charm and humor that is disastrous to the contentment of the armchair traveler.

WORLD DIARY: 1929-1934, by Quincy Howe. The editor of "The Living Age" has written the story of a period that has been called "one of the great turning points in the long history of civilization."

NATIONAL VELVET, by Enid Bagnold. This novel has love of horseflesh, an understanding of and delight in children and young people, and beautiful descriptions of the countryside.

THE PROTESTANT CHURCH AS A SOCIAL INSTITUTION, by H. Paul Douglass and Edmund de S. Brunner.

WOMEN ON THEIR OWN, by Olga Knopf. The distinguished Viennese psychologist and physician writes for and about the average woman in a workaday world and gives sage guidance in the solution of such ordinary difficulties that beset her.

YOUNG RENNIE, by Mazo de La Roche. The clock at Jaina is turned back to 1906 when old Adeline was 80 and young Rennie, in his twentieth year, was first feeling his oats.

I WANTED OUT, by Elsie Robinson. With a vividness that is unique, Elsie Robinson writes the great human experience that was her life.

SPORT ACROSS THE WORLD, by Count C. A. C. de Lewenhaupt. The author is not only a first-class all-round sportsman, he is also a keen and subtle student of the psychology of animals.

MAN WITH A BULL-TONGUE PLOW, by Jesse Stuart. These sonnets give a vast panorama of the life of the mountaineer folk in the hills.

LORRAINE FRENCH STARTS DUTIES AS PRESIDENT

Lorraine French began her duties as president of Santa Ana Business and Professional Women's club at the dinner meeting last evening in the Doris Kathryn tea room.

Instruction to delegates to the state convention Friday and Saturday in San Francisco were given in the business session. Hazel Northcross will attend as state treasurer, Lena Thomas and Rose Walker as delegates, and Dorothy Decker and Genevieve Humiston will also go from Santa Ana.

Minnie Mayhill heads the committee in charge of the club's June 3 meeting at the Doris Kathryn.

Bridge was played during the rest of the evening.

GARDEN TEA GIVEN FOR GUILD

One of the most delightful affairs of the early spring was a garden tea given by Mrs. Francis Edmund Smith Saturday at her home on North Grand street for the Trinity Episcopal church women and special guests. The affair was for the benefit of the Trinity guild.

Mrs. Smith was assisted in her hostess duties by Mrs. Robert Weitbrecht and by Mrs. A. E. Zapf.

Baskets and bowls of gorgeous spring flowers enhanced the beauty of the rooms.

Mrs. Weitbrecht and Mrs. Zapf presided at the tea and coffee urns, and were assisted by Mrs. Smith's daughter, Miss Rosalie; her niece, Mrs. Evelyn Smith-Thomas; Miss Janet Welty and Miss Lois Reeves.

The tea table was exquisite in its appointments of silver, china and tall tapers in pastel tones. The roomy lawn and gardens at the rear of the house were arranged as an outdoor living room, where many of the guests enjoyed their tea at four-square tables scattered about the yard.

An unusually interesting program had been arranged by the hostess for the pleasure of her guests. The young daughter of the house, Rosalie, gave two piano numbers, "Autumn" (Chaminade) and "Lento" (Cyril Scott). Miss Pauline Thompson, violinist, accompanied by Mrs. Margaret Gregg Bauer, presented two groups of violin numbers. Miss Margaret Dean, accompanied by Miss Alice Fene, sang "Carissima" (Arthur A. Penn), and an encore, "Carry Me Back to Old Virginia."

Guest speaker of the afternoon, Miss Floyd Bradshaw, who spent 12 years in Italy studying voice and singing in opera in many cities of Europe, gave a talk on "Reminiscences of Italy and the Stage."

Mingled pathos and humor given in Miss Bradshaw's delightful manner made the talk one long to be remembered by the guests.

The afternoon will ever be recalled as one of the most enjoyable affairs in the history of the Trinity Episcopal church.

P. E. O. DELEGATES RETURN FROM STATE CONCLAVE

Mrs. Terry E. Stephenson, Mrs. Susan Rutherford and Mrs. Earl Morrow of chapter AB and Mrs. C. C. Fuller of chapter DI of P. E. O. Sisterhood returned to Santa Ana yesterday from the P. E. O. state convention at Sacramento.

They reported a most enjoyable time, and a pleasant trip home through the mother lode country, the heart of the gold mining district.

MILDRED VEALE FETED WITH SHOWER

Miss Mildred Veale of Santa Ana, attractive June bride-elect of George W. Clewett of Escondido, was complimented with an evening party and a shower of gifts planned by Miss Mildred Mathews, 315 South Garney.

Miss Caroline Cushing won a prize in hearts. A dessert course was served. Bridal appointments were used on the tables.

Others present were Meses Peggy Warburton, Jean Thwait, Marcelline Shanafelt, Audrey Van Beak and Lillian Beaudette.

church—Home of Mrs. G. D. Wallace, 545 East Bailey street, Whittier.

Elizabeth guild, Episcopal Church of the Messiah—Mother-daughter banquet, 6:30 o'clock in church hall.

Flower arrangement program—By Mrs. F. Hosmer of Laguna Beach, lecture, for Fullerton Ebells garden section members and other clubwomen, 2 p. m., in Ebells clubhouse.

Group Leader To Serve Again

Yielding to the insistence of her section, Mrs. T. A. Winbiger at yesterday afternoon meeting of Santa Ana Ebells second travel section, consented to serve as leader of the group next year, her fifth in the leader's position.

In addition to Mrs. Winbiger, officers elected were Mrs. J. J. Harrison, assistant leader; Mrs. H. G. Wassum, secretary, and Mrs. J. H. Bell, treasurer.

Mrs. J. R. Medlock will entertain the section for a June picnic at her Newport Beach summer cottage.

Marion A. Spear of Huntington Beach, who has traveled 500,000 miles on foot, by horse, mule and automobile since he was a young boy, and whose hobby is geology and archeology, presented a program on "Finding Wonder Spots of the Desert."

Julia Ann Hyde assisted him by showing slides of the national parks. Mr. Spear showed relics he has found, and specimens of gypsum, from which face powder and toothpaste are made.

Mrs. George Warner, assisted at the piano by Miss Esther Vogt, sang "Would God I Were a Tender Apple Blossom" and "My Desire."

In the tea hour, Mrs. Winbiger served cakes and tea.

Rosemary Ames flew to Hollywood from Miami, Fla., for added scenes in the latest Shirley Temple picture, "Our Little Girl." Miss Ames was honeymooning with Abner Stillwell, whom she married a week ago when the studio call came.

Learn of Action To Cut Land Bank Loan Interest

The Orange County Farm bureau today announced that it has been informed of the passage in both houses of congress, of the Wheeler amendment to the farm credits act of 1935. This amendment reduces the interest rate on federal land bank loans from 4 1/2 to 3 1/2 per cent.

The amendment was sponsored by the American Farm Bureau Federation. Roland D. Flaherty, executive secretary of the local farm bureau, explained today that it was felt that when call money is as low as one-quarter of 1 per cent on Wall Street, there is no excuse for not making provision for the farmer, who is to all intents and purposes a manufacturer, securing an interest rate comparable to the industrial rate.

Many large corporations, Mr. Flaherty said, now get short term money for 2 and 3 per cent, and long time industrial loans, corresponding with federal land bank loans, are being refinanced for long periods at 3 and 3 1/2 per cent.

GARDEN TOUR MAPS READY AT Y. W. C. A.

Maps may be obtained at the Y. W. C. A. for the eighth garden tour of Santa Ana. Y. W. C. A. Saturday from 2 to 6 in Tustin, it was announced today.

The tour will start at the J. E. Paul home on Main street and conclude with tea at the M. B. Wellington home, Lemon Heights.

Mrs. J. T. Wilson is tea chairman. Mrs. Helen Hill, Mrs. E. S. Gilbert, Mrs. Joseph Metzger and Mrs. C. E. Downey are inviting the public to go on the tour.

A Lovely Garden

The garden was very lovely on that May morning with its high hedge of mauve and white lilacs in full bloom, and the Japanese peach tree bursting with pink flowers, and the jonquils raising their pert yellow heads on each side of the flagstone path that led to the deep sapphire of the lake.

But Ellen didn't notice it, she seldom did, and this morning she was even too preoccupied to see that the white peacocks were out and strutting along the fresh new green grass. Grover saw them, however, and trembled a little, for he knew Miss Spencer didn't like the white peacocks.

Lael Hubbell saw the column and the two names soon after she came to the Elmer building, and she was glad that Ward was not coming in this morning, because she had to cry. She did cry for some time, and when she went to bathe her eyes later, they were swollen and red.

At two when Ward came in, whistling, Lael didn't mention the column, and neither did he, but he continued to whistle to himself while he dealt out cards for his favorite solitaire game. The whistling was more than Lael could stand, so she took her notebook and went into the reception room.

Miss Simmons, of course, saw the two names, for it was a habit of hers to read the morning Herald carefully with her breakfast which she ate at a small restaurant near the Boyer building.

First gleaning the news from the front page. Reading only the stories that had some court detail about them, and the White House news.

Then the other pages in order, not too slowly, for she only allowed herself half an hour for her Herald and her breakfast, but her eyes were well trained, and she could grasp a name, that interested her instantly from a column.

The woman's page and sports page she didn't bother with, but she did look at the shipping pages, and the vital statistics.

Always at the divorces, deaths, and marriage licenses. She couldn't remember when she hadn't read the marriage licenses in the Herald, although it was seldom that she found a name she knew personally.

Others Eyes See
"QUENTIN-CAREY" caught her eye immediately even before it had traveled down near the bottom of the page, and because she was through, she reached for her bill which was always the same, and the paper which she usually left on the table.

At the office later, the first thing she did was to cut out the Intention to Marry Column as neatly as she could, and paste it on a slip of yellow paper. When it was smoothed down evenly, she drew a small arrow pointing to the two names, and took it in to Christopher Abbott who had just come in.

"I thought you might miss this, Mr. Christopher," said Miss Simmons as she showed her employer the notice of Fran and Ward's marriage license application.

BRONX CHEERS

FIVE United States senators walked out of the senate chamber at Washington, D.C. yesterday when newly-appointed Senator Dennis Chavez, of New Mexico was receiving the oath of office. They did it, these five men, to protest against the seating of Senator Chavez, who contested the seat of the late Senator Bronson Cutting, a "Roosevelt republican," whom Chavez succeeded after Cutting was killed in an airplane accident.

The walkers-out were Senators Johnson, California; Norris, Nebraska; Nye, North Dakota, republicans; La Follette, Wisconsin progressive and Shipstead, Farmer-Labor of Minnesota. Dispatches said Senator Borah "sicked" them on. He stayed away entirely.

All of these men have hosts of friends and admirers. They have proved themselves time and again when it was a matter of what was right and what was wrong as far as the interests of the people were concerned. All are men of high principles and sound judgment. Which makes it the more difficult to understand why they permitted their admiration for Cutting and their hate for Chavez and his friends to upset their poise and to reveal their bad manners.

These same senators manage to sit through the harangue of Huey Long; they tolerate the trimming of William Gibbs McAdoo. They permit themselves to be ruled by shallow-minded Jack Garner. They don't care for them any more than they do for the new senator from New Mexico. But their respect for the office and not always for the man who holds it, has held them in bounds.

The rudeness of these men will add nothing to their glory. The senate of the United States is not a place where one would look for Bronx cheers, particularly on the floor of the chamber itself. Good sportsmanship would give Senator Chavez a chance, no matter what part he played in the bitter political feud in New Mexico.

GIVING VERNON A LIFT

SANTA ANA boy, Vernon Carpenter, has a strange malady. Normal at birth and through childhood, his body suddenly began to swell like a balloon. He is 24 years old now and weighs 340 pounds. His parents, Santa Ana residents, have exhausted their funds trying to effect a cure. It has met with little success. Vernon is doomed to a life of helplessness. There seems to be no way to avoid it.

Vernon's family has asked little of the community. But friends have asked that he be "given a lift" in the form of a motor-propelled wheel chair which will enable him to get out into the fresh air and at least see, hear and feel some of the beauties we who are in good health enjoy every day without a thought.

The Journal has undertaken to raise the necessary amount to buy the rolling chair. It is $250. Last night $71.50 had been subscribed or paid. This leaves a balance of $178.50. Santa Ana and Orange—where Vernon formerly lived—should provide this comparatively small contribution, without much effort.

It is true we are called upon for frequent donations of cash for this and for that, and that we all feel we have given even more than we can afford. But an object so worthy in a community so well off, ought not to go uncared for.

The personal satisfaction donors will receive when they see Vernon happily scooting about town, will be worth more than the few dollars required. Joys are so rare among the helpless that it behooves all of us to provide them when we may.

NOT ON THE SUCKER LIST

WITHOUT attempting to discuss the legal rights of the parties concerned, The Journal wishes to commend the action of city and county law enforcement officers yesterday when they closed the dollar chain scheme shop on North Main.

Operators and employees of the place were jailed and their chain "letters" and other records seized. This is the first time any real action has been taken against the scheme in California. In other counties there has been a lot of talking and some threats. In Santa Ana there was direct action without much hesitation.

What the courts will do with the defendants is problematical and not a subject for discussion. It is up to the officers who took the initiative to prove their charges and the case will be watched with more than ordinary interest. The courts must decide it on the points of law.

Regardless of what the legal outcome of the case is, officers will have the general support of law-abiding people and all who are opposed to being a prey to get-rich-quick ideas which seem to abound so plentifully in Los Angeles and its immediate environs.

Invariably promoters of such movements seek the rich rural districts to ply their trade after somebody else has tried it out in another locality. When Santa Ana proves once and for all that it is not to be found on the sucker list, perhaps we shall be free of these unwelcome fishermen and their spurious bait.

WELCOME, CITRUS GROWERS

ORANGE COUNTY will be happy to welcome 500 citrus growers from various districts in Southern California when they meet here for the summer institute June 15. Farm Advisor Harold Wahlberg has announced an interesting program of study and entertainment.

There was a time years ago when some growers scoffed at the idea of study. Just plain hard work would do it, they said. Men who burned midnight oil trying to find a shorter road to success were called "book farmers" and the work of agricultural colleges, extension divisions and their related agents, was considered unnecessary and just another bill of expense.

California and other states that practiced intensive farming learned this was not all true. They found that farming is a business and the same principles that make other business undertakings successful, result in greater returns and less work in the orchard and field.

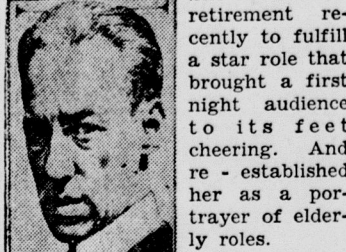

PHIL STANTON'S BATTLE

CALIFORNIA in general and his Orange county neighbors in particular, were heartened yesterday by a news article in The Journal telling of the gradual recovery of Phil A. Stanton, member of the California State Highway commission.

The widely known republican leader has been battling a malady that has kept him confined to his Brookhurst drive home near Anaheim for several months and his physician reports he is winning.

No success of the season has been more cheering to theatrical folk than that of Grace George.

Shirley came out of retirement recently to fulfill a star role that brought a first night audience to its feet cheering. And she - established her as a portrayer of elderly roles.

She wrung hearts as a pathetic and tortured spinster. Miss George is especially beloved by her profession because she is among the few who proved her calling is no barrier to a happy marriage. At 19, she was married to the bluff, fiery and capable W. A. Brady.

Convent bred and astonishingly shy, she is the exact opposite of her husband. Brady is the rough and tumble type, the man's man who takes his straight, is a terror at draw and knows how to manage prize fighters as well as build theaters and produce plays. He is now 72.

Miss George's life has been a succession of contrasting interludes—living in a theatrical trunk and making a cozy home for her husband in New York. And in spare time devoting the hours she could to stage charities. No star's life has been a better example to her guild.

Edward Dean Sullivan, the author, has spent a year collecting data for a book about the fabulous Wilson Mizner. He found that the chief tenet of Mizner's credo was that fear sinks and torments more people than almost any other thing. The playwright gambler once related how he conquered this deadening influence in so many lives. When 16, he ran away from home and a month later wired his mother to send him $500. She wired back: "Sorry. I did not receive your telegram." Mizner was naturally disappointed, but right there economic fears left him forever. "I knew that the sort of a mother that smart," he said, "was never going to starve."

I know a now successful doctor whose early after-college years were spent practicing in a small town. In competition with the old-fashioned physicians he hung out his shingle and waited. Not much happened. So he conceived this subtlety. At busy times of the day and early evening he would hitch his horse to his buggy and drive in haste through the main streets as though answering a call. He would turn off into an old lane near a cemetery outside town and wait a plausible period and jog back. Impression got around the young doctor was in demand, and clients began to arrive.

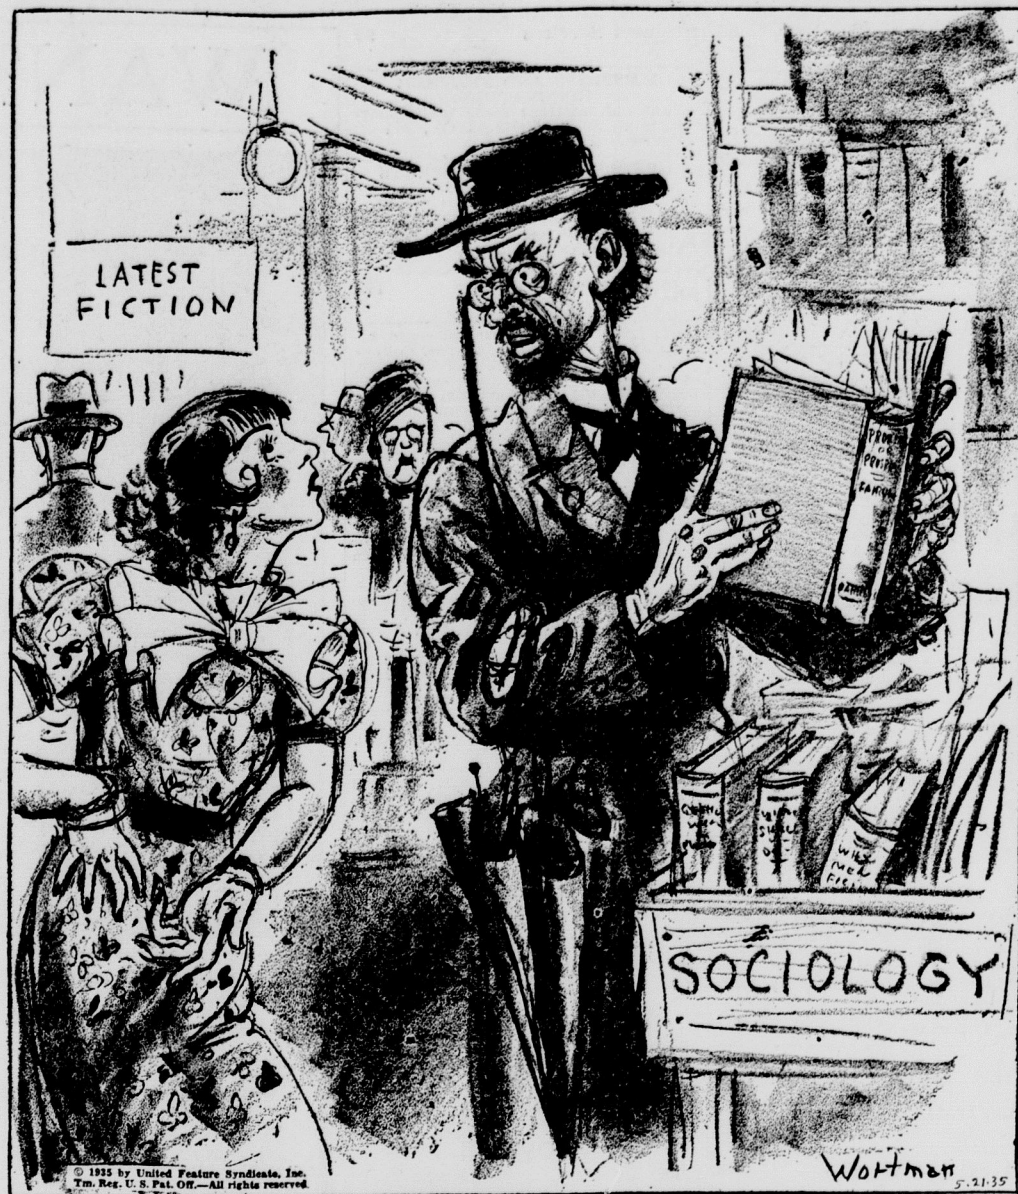

A number of the younger generation belonging to the Long Island set will rough it in lodge keepers' huts at the entrances to their parents' estates this summer. Things being what they are, many vast chateaux with jolly names will be closed—the elder folk remaining in town. But the youngsters will have their curtailed and servantless establishments. They look upon it as a great lark.

The rich playboy—he's really gray and stooped—Tommy Manville and his show girl bride seem forever just one jump ahead of the kidnapers, if the headlines are accurate. Time after time—50 is a low estimate—the tabloids have exploited the mysterious phone calls, the escapes by an eyelash, the bodyguards that surround them and there was a lull in the hellish conspiracies, but recently they broke out again with a rash of pictures of Manville and the lady at night club tables as America's No. 1 Kidnapes. It must be terrifying, but they seem to bear up valiantly—always laughing, joking, dancing the rumba and carrying on with a tra-la-la.

Also John Barrymore shucked off much of the Royal Family dignity for a fling in New York after so many colorless years in the sylvestral canyons of Hollywood. He allowed news photographers to snap his Byronic profile vis-a-vis with this charmer and that in the night club alcoves and seemed to enjoy the bright lights with boyish fervor. There was a time when he appeared in no public dining room save the Algonquin.

It's always interesting to watch restaurant crowds when someone like Barrymore makes a grand entrance. The head-waiter and captains telegraph it unconsciously. Sometimes a white-capped chef peers through the peep hole from the kitchen. The buzz of table conversation hangs suddenly in mid-air. And boy, do the Barrymores of the world love it! Talks to Parents

By Brooke Peters Church

Tommy had been caught lying and his mother was shocked and humiliated. "My child dishonest!" was the burden of her complaint. "—with a background of honest and God-fearing ancestors. How could he have developed such a tendency? Where did he get it?"

Some days later she and Tommy went to town. Six months before the child had turned 13, and so was now out of the half-fare class; but none the less a half fare was bought for him. The conductor looked at the boy suspiciously and asked his age. To the child's surprise, his mother unhesitatingly replied, "12." Tommy, thinking his mother had forgotten his advancing years, protested, and after the added sum had been paid, was roundly scolded for interference.

The little boy's bewilderment may be imagined. Why was he betraying his ancestors and letting his family down when he lied, when his mother could not only lie but virtually steal, and then scold him for setting her straight?

A child learns far more from example than from precept. Had Tommy been brought up in an atmosphere of absolute honesty in the home, not because it was the best policy, but because it was in itself beautiful and worth while and right, he unconsciously would have come to follow the same road.

Many children go through a period of lying and stealing and recover, not as a result of punishment or scolding, but because of the example set by their parents. In a way their inheritance wins, but it is more likely to be the inheritance, from their immediate ancestors, their father and mother, than from the shadowy great ancestors who in the forgotten past began to hand down the ideal.

Kidney Stones: I

Medical science has several theories on the possible causation of kidney stones. It does not, however, as yet possess definite information as to why stones form in the kidneys.

With much circumspection and repeated warnings that the experimental work is only of tentative significance, there was recently issued from the Cleveland clinic a report on the experimental production and solution of kidney stones in white rats. In substance the experimenters report that a high proportion of the rats when fed a diet deficient in vitamin A (found in milk, butter, egg yolk, etc.) developed stones. These were found both in the bladder and in the kidneys.

Three factors apparently contribute to the formation of urinary stones. Each of the three is traced to vitamin A deficiency. First there is what is called a keratinization of the linings of the associated regions as well as of other portions of the body which are lined with mucous membranes. This makes the linings less resistant to bacteria, for the lining cells of the mucous membranes lose their living substance and become "toughened."

The reader may gather what is meant by keratinization by comparing, say, the skin of the palm of his hand with the lining membrane of his mouth. The horny skin of the hand is formed of keratin. The soft, smooth lining of the mouth is mucous membrane. The keratinization of the mucous membranes renders them less resistant to invasion by bacteria.

Second, and consequent to the keratinization, urinary infection develops. This infection is ascribed to the loss of resistance to bacteria.

Third, associated with the vitamin A deficiency diet is alkaluria or the alkalization of the urine. (Normally urine is acid in reaction.)

These three factors produced in a large percentage of the experimental white rats stones in the bladder and the kidneys.

NEW WORD!

(Westminster Gazette)

Last week, looking through the Santa Ana Journal, we ran onto a new word—"strangulization." Of course, it's a derivation of the common word strangle, but when you say strangulization you've said a real mouthful. Particular satisfaction is obtained when the first syllable is held for a goodly period before rolling out the rest.

Too bad the word doesn't work when put in another tense. Who ever heard of a person being strangulized?

Two-way proof of the feasibility of commercial flying over the Pacific is offered in the air-mail flight of Pan-American's clipper from California to Hawaii and back again. The giant air clipper's successful voyage gives island and mainland a next-door-neighbor nearness which henceforth may be reckoned in terms of hours instead of days.

It was the first round-trip flight to Hawaii and the first attempt to carry pay loads over the Pacific. Yet even more significant than these "firsts" is the easy manner in which Capt. Edwin C. Musick

BRIGHT FEATHERS

By MARY GRAHAM BONNER
"Come all Puddle Muddlers! Gather around Big Chief Eagle." Booming-Voice beat the drum and Jelly and Honey Bear, the two cubs Blacky and Jupiter, Mr. and Mrs. Quacko Duck and the other ducks, Top Notch, the rooster, Rip, the dog, Sweet Face, the lamb, and Willy Nilly stood near Big Chief.

The other Indians drew back a little, Christopher Columbus Crow came down from his nest.

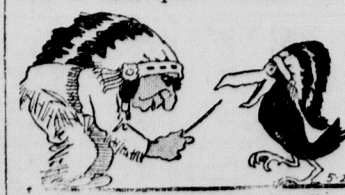

"We found spines, quills say some, from old porcupine wooddweller," continued Big Chief. The Puddle Muddlers looked at each other for they knew that the Indian chief had found the quills that Willy Nilly had pulled out of Rip.

"We have dyed these quills and made them handsome colors, fine, brave colors. One must go to crow—Christopher Columbus—who is now Big Chief Crow. Come! Get painted quill from Big Chief, Christopher!"

Christopher was about to take the quill from Big Chief when he shouted:

"No, no. Chief Eagle say NO!"

Christopher drew back a little. "We test your bravery, but unwise to take quill. Indians keep them for pow-wow if Great Friend, Willy Nilly, say all right." Willy Nilly nodded.

Now Big Chief cried out: "Indians have feathers too, beautiful, magnificent, brave feathers they have painted. They are for honors."

Mrs. Quacko Duck smiled a duckish smile. The feathers belonged to the duck family!

State bankers will indulge in a conviviality in San Diego this week. It's scheduled as a state bankers meeting, with golf, theaters, dances and Agua Caliente accessories. There isn't a thing you can bar at these meetings. These banker conventions are becoming as complicated as a drug store. They include such a variety of subjects and ventures that you need everything from a PHD double DD to an automobile mechanic. The Journal is running a swap column. The society editor solicited a swap the other day and insisted I had something for exchange. Just 'cause she insisted I set my face toward the west, put all three teeth in a clinch and said: "No." It was a fatal statement. Then I remembered I had those dancin' slippers I bought from the Emporium, and knew darned well the period of orcheis has faded and become a part of the photoplasm. Well, I had forfeited a mighty good chance to trade an old pair of dancing slippers for a suit of Soviet flannel underwear.

I encountered a modified case of paratrichosis—rather rare for these days. She was young, good looking, and I could have reflected more at length, but I had to listen to the minister—at least I thought it was respectful to do so. This young girl brought into the sanctuary an expansion of curls that recalled the days when tresses were glorified as a woman's crowning beauty. While there was something different about her appearance and the rest of the audience, it did afford the suggestion about going back to the good old days, and you can go there if you want to, but I'm goin' to stay here, bobs or no bobs.

Col. V. Orange rang the bell when he inquired if it was on the banks of the Mississippi that Harry Hanson got his first banking experience. That's where. I found out surreptitiously and from an infallible source. Harry had to make a decision between Sunday school and fishing and the fish won. Imagine his chagrin when the fish refused to take anything but the bait. So the future banker compromised on frogs. They were small but plentiful. Young Roth-child looked for a frog buyer. He sold out to a cousin at four cents per dozen. Young cousin skinned the frogs and sold the legs for five cents a dozen. Hanson's first banking experience. I was afraid there was a skin game in it some place.
